(Special to The Herald.)

Park City, June 4.—Park City and Eureka went ten hard innings to a draw today, the score being 8 to 8, darkness intervening. If darkness had not come on they might still be at their nerve-killing performance. Chivrell was on the slab for Eureka, and his pitching was one of the features of the game. Only once did he give signs of weakness, and at this time the locals, after receiving one free pass, made five safe hits, two of which were home runs, with a net result of five scores.

Zimmerman was in the box for the locals, and, as usual, the elderly gentleman showed that he is possessed of a wonderful left arm, and that he has control and speed to burn. The visitors secured fourteen hits from his delivery, but they were pretty well scattered, and not much damage was done. Just to show the fans who were banking on Zim's ability to pitch that a life time thing like a ten-inning game has no terror for him, even if he did pitch five hard innings Sunday, he struck out the last two batters that faced him in the tenth inning. The locals tried out a new catcher today in the person of Lambert of Colorado, and it is the opinion of all who saw him work that he is a big addition to the team, as he fields and throws well, and his hitting is very good.

Another bit of news which comes, ever which the local followers of the game rejoice, is that Park has a second baseman and a shortstop, who are now on their way to join the local team. While there is no one here who would think of saying that Ryan and Grayson do not play the positions well, all realize that by playing them there other positions are being weakened, and it is nothing but fair to give a man a chance to play his own position. The two teams were greeted by another large and enthusiastic crowd, business houses closing at 4 o'clock for the game.

PLAYERS' SALARIES CUT.

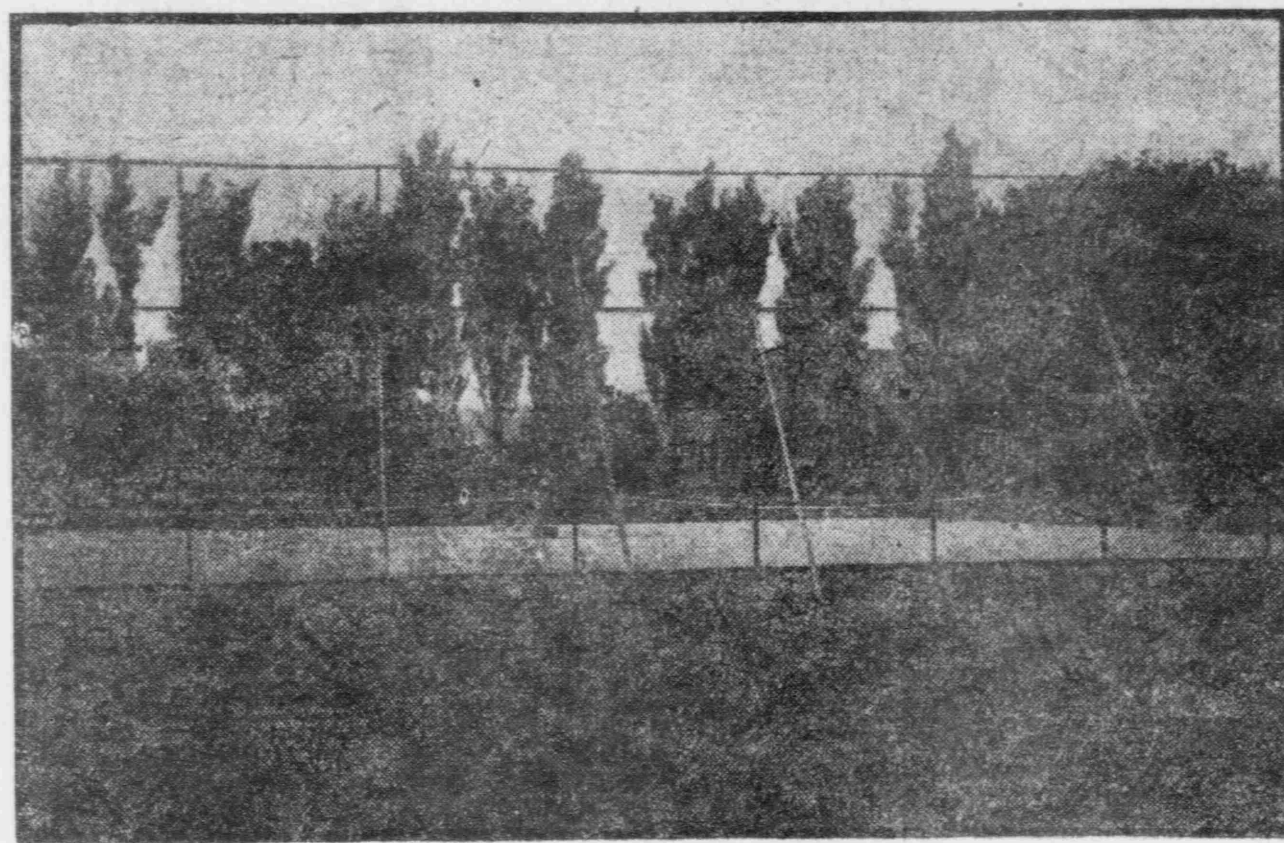

Portland Team in a Demoralized Condition for This Reason.

Portland, June 4.—The Evening Telegram says today: "It is a gloomy feature that looms up before the demoralized baseball team that left Portland last night for a week's series with San Francisco in their home town. The local players are in a state of mind that is the prospect that is worrying Manager Van Halten. It is but four of the men, who are youngsters in the game, must accept a big cut in salary, beginning this week. By the rules of the national association, the players can accept or they can demand their releases. As every man is dissatisfied, they may take the alternative and trust to getting places in the east. A player so doing could not play with another coast team, but would not be black-listed."

GOLF CHAMPION DIES.

Keokuk, Ia., June 4.—John R. Maxwell, Iowa state golf champion in 1900 and trans-Mississippi champion in 1903, died of Bright's disease last night.

NEW TENNIS COURTS AT COUNTRY CLUB

Lawn tennis at the Country club is again an interesting feature of that interesting place. Saturday saw the largest meet this season and the courts were occupied constantly from early afternoon until dusk.

At the Miller court the club tournament is making progress, and it is expected that the finals will be played Wednesday or Thursday.

W. L. McLean, by request of several of the leading clubs, has just issued a notice calling upon each club to name to him its champion or representative for an interclub tournament in singles to begin the following day. This will make a tournament between about eight players—the best of each club—and some lively games are in store for those who like to watch the game. This tournament will be held at the Fort Douglas courts beginning at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Secretary Boyd of the Intermountain Lawn Tennis association has issued a calling for meeting of the delegates from each club to be held at 5:30 Friday evening in the Kenyon parlors. This meeting is to make preliminary arrangements for the state event which begins June 30. A handsome cup has been presented by Boyd Park for the state championship.

IDAHO WOOL GROWERS.

(Special to The Herald.)

Boise, Idaho, June 4.—The Idaho Wool Growers association has been holding a meeting here this afternoon and this evening to make arrangements about disposing of the wool clip of the state. The deadlock continues, and it is the sense of the association that its members ship their wool, refusing to wait for the buyers to come to terms. Nothing has been formally decided yet, but it is the plan to ship the wool, sending men east to look after its sale. The conclusions of the association will be put into formal shape tomorrow.

BILL BINGLEY

DIDN'T GO HOME

C. W. Raybould Thought He Did

and It Cost $10 to Square

Judge Dana Smith.

It was rumored around in fishing circles yesterday that Claude W. Raybould will shortly join the fishermen's protective association. The same rumor says Claude will be especially active in helping enforce the law against fishing out of season. Mr. Raybould is aware there is such a law on the statute books and it cost him only $10 to find it out.

Sunday was just such a day as makes a fisherman's fancy highly turn to thoughts of speckled beauties, a cool running brook and a chance to use the new fishing rod. Jordan river was the place selected by Raybould and all went well for the time being as State Game Warden Sharp's dog book says one can fish in the river at any old time of year. Bill Bingley, the one-legged game warden, happened along and engaged Mr. Raybould in conversation. Then Bill laid a dark and deep trap and, like Adam, Claude fell.

Said Bill: "There seems to be nothing doing in my line. I guess I'll go home and spend the day with the family."

"Sure," answered Raybould. "Good idea, Bill. I would if I were you." Bill started for the tail timber and headed for home, but instead of going there, he circled through several fences and brought up at a deep fishing hole. In a second the elephantine form of Bill Bingley loomed from the brush and he nailed Mr. Raybould.

Mr. Raybould looked up and said: "I guess I deserve to be caught, but I couldn't resist the temptation. I warned those dagoes not to fish here two weeks ago, and they wouldn't pay any attention to me, and now I get it myself." Judge Dana T. Smith was called up by phone and he told Raybould to appear before him yesterday, which he did. The judge fined the fisherman $10. Raybould thought he got off lucky.

As soon as President Schefski of the fishermen's protective association heard of the matter yesterday, he set out on a hot-foot to find Raybould to induce him to get into good company, where his experiences would help keep others from falling by the wayside.

GREAT WORK BY RICHMOND

Former Salt Lake High School Athlete Wins Honors at Andover.

Fred Richmond, the crack High School athlete who is now attending school in the east, still continues to do wonders in athletics there. In a recent dual meet with Exeter, he won eleven points for his school. He ran second in the 220-yard dash, and got second in the high jump. In this event there was a dispute and several Harvard athletes credited him with first place. In the broad jump he won first place and established a new record for the school. The decision on Richmond's high jump lost the meet for Andover by a score of 48 to 47. Richmond received a gold medal for winning the broad jump. The distance in the broad jump was 21 feet 7 inches.

KING AND QUEEN ATTEND REVIEW

Festivities Following the Royal Marriage Continue to Occupy Attention.

Madrid, June 4.—The populace of the Spanish capital is gradually recovering its composure, and the programme of wedding festivities is being carried out, although the nerve-racking tragedy of May 31 is likely to leave a lasting impression on the royal family as well as on the people here.

The principal event today was the military review at Casa Banchel camp, at which King Alfonso and Queen Victoria were present. The former, who wore the uniform of a captain general, and who was mounted on a handsome bay, galloped along the lines. His escort was composed of officers of all nations in various uniforms. Lieutenant U. S. Grant, the American representative, being conspicuous in the white summer uniform of the United States army.

The Wadras regiment, which lost several of its officers and privates by the bomb explosion Thursday, occupied the post of honor and was enthusiastically applauded. About 15,000 soldiers and sailors participated in the review.

Gorgeous Decorations.

The tribunes occupied by the members of the royal family, the princes, envoys and other noted personages were gorgeously decorated. Frederick W. Whitridge, the American special envoy, and Mrs. Whitridge and their daughters, in a vehicle drawn by four gaily caparisoned mules, were among those present.

The military review was followed by a musical composition this afternoon and a gala ball tonight at the palace of the Duchess Fernan Hunez, which was attended by the members of the Spanish royal family and the visiting princes and envoys.

The newspapers of Madrid are chiefly giving their attention to the need of measures for the protection of society against anarchy, but point out the difficulties which even the freest countries, such as the United States and France, have experienced in restraining this element.

Members of the family of Manuel Morales, the perpetrator of the bomb outrage, are expected to arrive in Madrid tonight. The burial of the assassin probably will take place tomorrow in some obscure place.

REPORT WILL BE FOUGHT

Senator Foraker Not Satisfied With the Compromise Statehood Bill.

Washington, June 4.—When the conference report on the statehood bill is called up for action in the senate one of the opponents of the union of Arizona and New Mexico—probably Senator Foraker—will make a point of order against the compromise provision on the ground that it is new legislation. The fact that the new proposition is in the language of the Foraker resolution of the previous congress they contend will not relieve it of this charge, and they will make an effort to have the report rejected on the ground that the conferees had no right to initiate legislation. The anti-statehood senators confess to having lost a few votes on the real question, but they hope to gain others on the parliamentary point.

The friends of the bill still claim to have forty-one votes assured, and say that there are no other votes which are doubtful from which they hope to draw the three additional votes necessary to insure success. They do not count upon any Democratic votes, notwithstanding Senator Clarke of Arkansas voted with them when the bill was originally before the senate.

WILL DRILL FOR MEDALS

All Hallow Cadets Meet in Competitive Exercise on College Campus This Evening.

A competitive drill will be held on the All Hallow campus at 6:45 o'clock this evening between companies D and A. Another gold medal has been offered for the cadet of company C showing the greatest knowledge of military movements. Company C is the junior cadet company, known at the college as "the little fellows." Companies A and D comprise the junior cadets. The cadets have been practicing for weeks and a hard fought contest for the medals will result.
